Who we are and what we do

Our communities

Fraser Health is the largest of the five regional health authorities in B.C. working together with the Ministry of Health.

We are responsible for the delivery of hospital and community-based health services to over 2.2 million people in 20 diverse communities from Burnaby to Fraser Canyon on the traditional, ancestral and unceded territories of the Coast Salish and Nlaka'pamux Nations.

Our communities include a diverse multicultural population including six Métis Chartered Communities and approximately 62,000 Indigenous Peoples associated with 32 First Nations communities.

Who We are

ARHCC opened in 2008 as:

- the first new hospital built in the province in 30 years
- the first hospital in Western Canada to have a cancer centre integrated in its design from the ground up
- Canada's first newly constructed hospital to meet LEED Gold environmentally friendly standards
- the first in the province to be built using a (P3) public-private partnership model

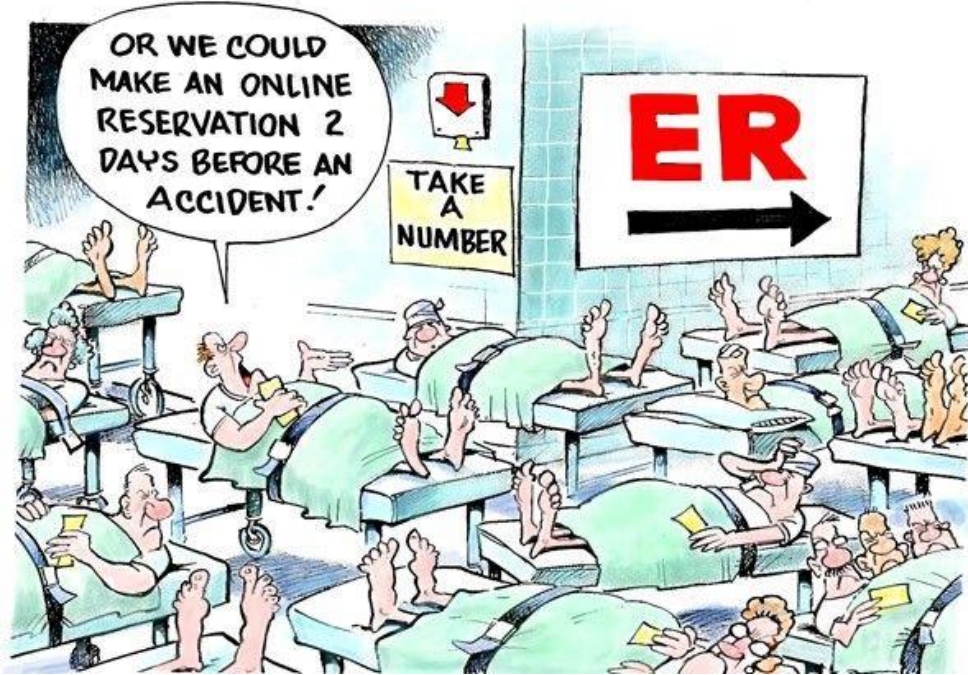

It is also the city's largest worksite in terms of number of employees.

Our Services

We provide community hospital services to Abbotsford residents and regional services to about 330,000 residents of the eastern Fraser Valley. These services include:

- 24/7 Emergency Medicine
- Surgery
- Medical imaging, including MRI, CT scanning
- Cardiac services
- Maternity care, including a neonatal intensive care unit
- Pediatric care
- Dialysis

What are we facing?

How we will succeed

WE CULTURE

Working as one unified team, we will build a culture based on trust and partnerships. Our collective efforts contribute to the greater whole of Fraser Health.

PARTNERS IN HEALTH

With strong connections and partnerships, we create value for our patients, families and communities. We create better health for all.

CONNECTED CARE

We will change the way we deliver health care services so that our patients experience a seamless health care journey, free from the worry of having to navigate the system for themselves.

"The secret of CHANGE is to focus all of your energy not on fighting the old, but on building the new."
-SOCRATES

NEW SOLUTIONS

We will do things differently. We will seek out new solutions and develop digital innovations and virtual health to build modern and responsive health care.

Thank you

The text "Thank you" is written in a bright, glowing blue cursive font. The letters have a soft, ethereal glow and are surrounded by numerous jagged, branching lines that resemble lightning bolts or electrical sparks. The entire scene is set against a solid black background, which makes the blue light stand out prominently.
